Dear Mayor Young,

My name is Jaqueline Vargas. In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021. Baltimore is a great city with so many organizations and programs that deserve to be invested in.

Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety.

Best,

Jaqueline Vargas

Dear Mayor Young,

My name is Lexie Mountain. In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021.

Unallocated funds need to support programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health and will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety. Demilitarization of the BPD is crucial at this time to protect our citizens from police aggression. I am also asking the Mayor's office to stop funding police litigation with taxpayer money; Officers flagged with credibility issues and misconduct violations need to be dismissed and de-armed. Officers with domestic abuse backgrounds need to be dismissed without severance.

I am a homeowner, and I am appalled that my property taxes have been funding tear gas (a deadly abortifacient), severance packages for killer cops, and the defense attorneys who keep these abusive gangsters on the street. Black Lives Matter, and it is time to show the world that you actually believe that to be true.

Sincerely,

Alexandra "Lexie Mountain" Macchi

I am ashamed right now that Baltimore would not give this money to hospitals and businesses. That Instead, the city would rather fuel the abuse within PD.

Dear Mayor Young,

My name is Sarah Howell. I live in Mount Washington and have been a resident of Baltimore City for 6 years. In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021.

Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety.

Best,
Sarah Howell

Dear Mayor Young,

My name is Monica Kung. In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021.

Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety.

Best,

Monica Kung

Dear Mayor Young, My name is Jordan Clark, I am a Mt. Vernon resident. In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is unthinkable to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021. Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety.

There is too much on the line and too many people in pain to stick with status quo. We need change, please do the right thing.

Thank you.

Dear Council Members,

My name is Siri Ming, and I am a city resident in District 1. I am writing to express my deep concern over the current plans for our city budget with respect to the police department in particular. While it is clear that there has been incremental change over the last five years, and that important policies are now in place to combat police-initiated violence (e.g. see <https://8cantwait.org/>), there is still much work to be done with respect to the implementation of such policies. In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021.

Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety. We must reconsider the functions of policing and return many of these functions to the community and professions that can address the root causes of violence and crime from a public health perspective. Reallocating funding is a first step towards a more peaceful and just community.

Sincerely,

Siri Ming

Dear Mayor Young,

My name is Ariane Sharifi and I am a Baltimore City resident. In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021.

Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety.

Best,
Ariane Sharifi

Dear Mayor Young,

My name is Kassandra Mendez. In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021.

Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety.

Best,
Kassandra Mendez

Dear Mayor Young,

My name is Alexander Girgis; I live in Patterson Park neighborhood. In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. I am fully aware of instances of crime and violence in our city, but do not believe increased BPD funding is the appropriate long term solution for our community.

I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021. Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety.

Best,
Alexander Girgis

Dear Mayor Young, My name is Sean Mizoguchi. The Baltimore Police Department budget has the intention of bringing safety to Baltimore. With this in mind I urge you to spend wisely. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021. Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety. I urge you to listen to social scientists and other researchers. Be bold. Policies that have the greatest effect may be counter intuitive. For years the Baltimore Police Department has failed to bring prosperity to the city. Please look elsewhere and make better use of the money of the great people of Baltimore.

Best,
Sean Mizoguchi
