Dear Mayor Young,

My name is Shayna Krammes. In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021. Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety.

Best,
Shayna Krammes

Dear Mayor Young,

My name is Sara Gaul and I live in the 12th District of Baltimore City. In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY2021.

Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety. In addition, I believe strongly in community strategies to prevent violence, and I believe this should be reflected in the city's policies and funding. Leaders of a Beautiful Struggle suggest creating community-controlled infrastructure that includes things like violence interrupters (like Safe Streets or Roca), an expansion of community mediation and an increase in community-based support that address trauma in communities. I also support the charter amendment that would give the city council the ability to increase money for existing uses or add items for new purposes.

All the best,
Sara Gaul

Dear Mayor Young,

My name is Dominic Bulkley. In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021.

Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety.

Best,
Dominic Bulkley

Dear Mayor Young, My name is Hyla Anne Wildt. In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021. Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety.

Best wishes, Hyla

Hello,

I call on the Baltimore City Council to vote against the proposed FY 2020-21 Baltimore Police Department budget and instead work to implement significant and permanent reductions to this department. These funds should be routed toward the development of harm reduction systems that do not terrorize our neighbors and communities. The proposed BPD FY21 Budget is $549,959,519. This is an increase of $13,583,042 compared to FY20. The Budget also calls for cuts to several departments that better serve the public, including:
Affordable Housing (-$3,535,819)
Housing and Community Development (-$227,023) Homeless Prevention and Support Services for the Homeless (-$641,270) Outreach to the homeless (-$1,971,541) Enoch Pratt Free Library (-$350,000) Youth and Trauma Services (-$10,749) Board of Elections (-$190,470) Environmental Inspection Services (-$50,243) Chronic Disease Prevention (-$252,906) Park programs and events (-$122,912) Public right of way cleaning (-$686,806) Events Art Culture and Films (-$442,488) I call on the City Council to cancel the BPD budget increase of $13.5 million and allocate it to the above departments.

Sincerely,
Katie Siemianowski

Dear Council Members,

My name is Morgan Pothast. In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021.

Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety.

Best,

Morgan Pothast

Dear Mayor Young,

My name is Kyle Weinman. In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. Despite the riots, I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021.

Investment in programs such as the Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety.

Riots are terrible, and I do not approve of them. They are not the way things should be done. However, you cannot deny the inappropriate actions of the police. Honestly just invest in education, and find a way to get people off of welfare.

Best
Kyle Weinman

Dear Council President Brandon M. Scott & Councilwoman Mary Pat Clarke & Mayor Bernard C. Young,

I call on the Baltimore City Council to vote against the proposed FY 2020-21 Baltimore Police Department budget and instead work to implement significant and permanent reductions to this department.

These funds should be routed toward the development of harm reduction systems that endeavor to enable and uplift rather than oppress our neighbors and communities.

The proposed BPD FY21 Budget is $549,959,519. This is an increase of $13,583,042 compared to FY20. The Budget also calls for cuts to several departments that better serve the public, including:

Affordable Housing (-$3,535,819)

Housing and Community Development (-$227,023) Homeless Prevention and Support Services for the Homeless (-$641,270) Outreach to the homeless (-$1,971,541) Enoch Pratt Free Library (-$350,000) Youth and Trauma Services (-$10,749) Board of Elections (-$190,470) Environmental Inspection Services (-$50,243) Chronic Disease Prevention (-$252,906) Park programs and events (-$122,912) Public right of way cleaning (-$686,806) Events Art Culture and Films (-$442,488)

I call on the City Council to cancel the BPD budget increase of $13.5 million and allocate it to the above departments. Our city is suffering and we require programs that better serve the community through outreach, education, compassion, and assistance. Defunding such programs and increasing funding on an institution that is objectively not functioning as intended is a misuse of funds and a betrayal to the tax-base that overwhelming does not support it's methods. Throwing more money at a broken system will not fix the system. Transform the system rather than enable it.

You are our elected officials and represent our voices when we are not there to be heard. Hear us now. Please.

Sincerely,

Aaron Johnson

Dear Mayor Young,

My name is Zachary Shuler. In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021.

Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety.

Best,

Zachary R. Shuler

Dear Council President Brandon M. Scott & Councilperson,

I call on the Baltimore City Council to vote against the proposed FY 2020-21 Baltimore Police Department budget and instead work to implement significant and permanent reductions to this department. These funds should be routed toward the development of harm reduction systems that do not terrorize our neighbors and communities.

The proposed BPD FY21 Budget is $549,959,519. This is an increase of $13,583,042 compared to FY20. The Budget also calls for cuts to several departments that better serve the public, including:

Affordable Housing (-$3,535,819)
Housing and Community Development (-$227,023)
Homeless Prevention and Support Services for the Homeless (-$641,270)
Outreach to the homeless (-$1,971,541)
Enoch Pratt Free Library (-$350,000)
Youth and Trauma Services (-$10,749)
Board of Elections (-$190,470)
Environmental Inspection Services (-$50,243)
Chronic Disease Prevention (-$252,906)
Park programs and events (-$122,912)
Public right of way cleaning (-$686,806)
Events Art Culture and Films (-$442,488)

I call on the City Council to cancel the BPD budget increase of $13.5 million and allocate it to the above departments.

Sincerely,
Jake Dahreddine

Dear Mayor Young,

My name is Elizabeth Le. In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021.

Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety.

Best,
Elizabeth Le

Dear Mayor Young,

My name is Katie Delaney. In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. Not only is it inappropriate, it is showing to the people what you truly want to protect. As we have seen in the past week, the police are not protecting the people. They are beating, macing, tear-gassing, and assaulting peaceful civilians. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021.

Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety.

You know in your hearts what needs to be done right now. Funding a force that continues to reinforce white supremacy and threaten the lives of the Black community is not acceptable. We want justice. We want peace. We don't want your abusive police.

Best,
Katie Delaney

Dear Mayor Young,

My name is Aryn Pennington and I wanted to express a vital concern. In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is highly inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021. Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety, as shown by numerous studies, some of which are summarized in this article by D. Max Crowley.

Dear Mayor Young,

My name is Margaret Valle. In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021.

Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety.

Best,
Margaret

My name is Lida Barthol. In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021.

Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety.

Best,
Lida Barthol

To Ms. Currin and members of the Budget & Appropriations Committee,

I would like to submit some serious concerns with the proposed budget for this upcoming fiscal year. For many decades, Baltimore Police Department has surpassed its budget and eclipsed all civic funding combined, and I am concerned to see this historic trend continue in the FY21 budget, even in light of recent nationwide uproar about police use of excessive lethal force on communities of color.

Baltimore spends more money per capita on the BPD than the city of Los Angeles spends on LAPD, we have more police officers per capita than many other cities of our size, yet we rank consistently highest in crime somehow. If the peaceful and orderly protests of the past week have demonstrated anything, it is that the community in Baltimore is capable of coming together to create positive change without the intervention or involvement of the Baltimore Police Department.

I respectfully request that you and the other committee members invest rather in long-term societal improvements over further spending on the police department. Increasing the budget for our chronically under-resourced school system will do much more to reduce crime than the same amount of money given to BPD. Invest in Youth and Trauma Services. Invest in Homeless Outreach and Affordable Housing. Invest in infrastructure and public transportation. Invest in our communities, not a police force that is not a part of the community it polices.

This is OUR money that makes up the city's budget, and WE want to spend it on the community, not an outdated, ineffective policing system that has come under fire time and time again, including EVERY NIGHT in massive protests for the past week.

Sincerely,

Jarrett Farmer
Resident of Baltimore City

Dear Mayor Young,

My name is Joshua Fawole. In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021.

We hear and see statistics of brutality and hardship in Baltimore. What are we doing to address it? Apart from nonprofit movements and kind acts, there is a clear imbalance between police funding and funding for beneficial programs. It's time to help kids and families get the benefits they deserve, as HUMANS. This is not about race, but human rights.

As a graduate from Loyola University Maryland, I know the ins and outs of Baltimore. I know the good neighborhoods and the bad ones. I know and can see where the money is going. I've volunteered at Cristo Rey. I know what kids are going through, and their families. It's something that they have endured, and the time for change is now. IT STARTS HERE. Please please please do your part and reallocate the funding.

I am a person of color and I am proud. Though I am not white and privileged, I am privileged in my wellbeing, my life, and much more. I will always advocate for the respect of human rights we deserve. DO THE RIGHT THING.

Best,

Joshua Fawole
