Dear Mayor Young,

My name is Ameen Lamb. In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021.

Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety.

Best,
Ameen Lamb

Dear Mayor Young, Council President Scott, Budget & Appropriations Chair Costello, and other members of the City Council,

My name is Aiko, and I was born and raised in Baltimore City. I'm writing to ask the Baltimore City Council to vote against the proposed FY21 Baltimore Police Department budget increase, and instead work to implement significant and permanent reductions to this department. These funds should be routed toward the development of harm reduction systems that do not terrorize our neighbors and communities.

Because the City Council is only able to cut rather than reallocate funds, I urge you to commit to cutting the BPD budget. It is, however, within the power of the mayor to propose a new budget, and so I ask you, Mayor Young, to ethically reallocate this increase, as well as a meaningful portion of the remaining BPD budget, towards social services and education.

Though I know you are aware of this, the proposed BPD FY21 Budget is $549,959,519. This is an increase of $13,583,042 compared to FY20. The Budget also calls for cuts to several departments that better serve the public, including:

- Affordable Housing (-$3,535,819)
- Housing and Community Development (-$227,023)
- Homeless Prevention and Support Services for the Homeless (-$641,270)
- Outreach to the homeless (-$1,971,541)
- Enoch Pratt Free Library (-$350,000)
- Youth and Trauma Services (-$10,749)
- Board of Elections (-$190,470)
- Environmental Inspection Services (-$50,243)
- Chronic Disease Prevention (-$252,906)
- Park programs and events (-$122,912)
- Public right of way cleaning (-$686,806)
- Events Art Culture and Films (-$442,488)

I call on the City Council to cancel the BPD budget increase of $13.5 million and the mayor to allocate it to the above departments.

Investment in these departments and other social services shows our commitment to communities and the vision that all Baltimore residents deserve to thrive. Historically, the city government has spent far more on police than on public health, homeless services, youth services, and other vital agencies. Additionally, all other city agency budgets are based on outcome-budgeting and performance, yet the Baltimore Police Department's budget is clearly not; otherwise it would have been defunded long ago.

Giving BPD more money will not be productive for our city. We need a completely new system. We desperately need local police control, followed by dismantling and completely remaking the department. Camden, NJ disbanded their police department and started over from scratch, lowering both costs and their murder rate. We can do the same.

In the meantime, we do have control over the funding of BPD, and it is entirely feasible to cut their budget if our city council and mayor are actually committed to creating change in Baltimore. As stated before, these funds are desperately needed for other vital city functions, especially due to the costs of COVID-19. We are even seeing other cities such as Los Angeles and Minneapolis currently setting a precedent for defunding their police department. We have no excuse for increasing our BPD budget, especially given their horrific track record as one of the most abusive and ineffective in the country. We must join the movement, be leaders of change, and defund the Baltimore Police Department.

Thank you for your time,
Aiko Richter

Dear Mayor Young,

My name is Dylan Margolis. In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021.

Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety.

Best,
Dylan Margolis

Dear Mayor Young,

My name is Bianca Onwukwe. In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021.

Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety.

Best,
Bianca Onwukwe

Dear Mayor Young,

My name is Stephanie Richardson. I am a resident of Baltimore, Maryland and have been all of my life. The BPD gets more upkeep, care, and funding than the education system and our neighborhoods. In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021.

Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, and the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety. Also, funding the education system so that more students can be debt free and so that the Maryland government can offer many, many more work incentives for students so that they can knock down loans after they leave college! Can you imagine the change in people's lives to get an education that will not leave them with crippling debt! Young men will be less likely to turn to the streets and young women less likely to turn to using their bodies to make money whether it be exotic dancing or another way because they know they can get the education and not feel like they'll be crushed under the debt for the rest of their lives or ever be able to pay for it. It would have an astonishing impact on creativity and innovation in both generations present and to come.

Looking forward to lasting social change and a brighter future,

Stephanie Richardson

Dear Mayor Young,

My name is Naomi Rodgers. In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is totally inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021.

Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety.

Best,

Naomi Rodgers

Dear Mayor Young,

My name is Kendra Nelson. In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021.

Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety.

Best,

Kendra Nelson

Dear Mayor Young,

My name is Amanda Aberg, and I live in Canton (21224). In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose such drastic increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget while reducing outreach targets and funding for the trauma initiative for children and youth in our city.

I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget to reroute a significant portion of this money for social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021.

Dear Mayor Young, My name is Imani Spence,

In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget.

There has been consistent evidence that the BPD is corrupt and hurts citizens of Baltimore while many people who receive salaries live in neighboring cities. I strongly urge you to advise citizens on the ways to work towards local control of the BPD.

I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021. Dear Budget Committee Members,

My name is Dr. Jonathan Schettino. I am a psychologist practicing in downtown Baltimore and serve on Johns Hopkins University's Risk Assessment Team. I have also been a proud resident of Baltimore City over the past 6 years.

As the City Council considers next year's budget and reevaluates the role that the police play in our city, I am demanding that funding for the Baltimore Police Department be substantially reduced and diverted to other services that can more effectively address many of the public safety issues in our city. For decades, Baltimore has relied too heavily on its police force to perform jobs that police are ill-equipped to perform. A large amount of arrests in our city are linked to homelessness, substance use disorders, and untreated severe mental illness. The police are not social workers, addictions treatment counselors, or psychologists, nor should we expect them to be. Moreover, we know that the interventions that the police are trained to apply (e.g., arrest, incarceration, neutralization of violent threats) fail to provide a long-term solution to these problems and all too often increase the likelihood of police misconduct, police injuries, or other undesirable encounters between the police and the community.

Therefore, it is both pro-police and pro-community to significantly reduce police funding and use those funds to substantially increase funding for programs and services that are specifically designed to treat homelessness, substance use disorders, and severe mental illness. These programs could include increased long-term housing options for the homeless, public substance use disorder treatment centers, public community mental health clinics, funding for more beds at state psychiatric hospitals, and mobile mental health crisis response units. These programs would undoubtedly address dangers to public safety attributable to homelessness, substance use disorders, and severe mental illness, thereby freeing up police to perform the jobs for which they were trained. This is a win-win solution for police and the community and should be enacted in the FY 2020-2021 budget.

Sincerely,

Jonathan Schettino

Hello,

I call on the Baltimore City Council to vote against the proposed FY 2020-21 Baltimore Police Department budget and instead work to implement significant and permanent reductions to this department. These funds should be routed toward the development of harm reduction systems that do not terrorize our neighbors and communities.

The proposed BPD FY21 Budget is $549,959,519. This is an increase of $13,583,042 compared to FY20. The Budget also calls for cuts to several departments that better serve the public, including:

Affordable Housing (-$3,535,819)

Housing and Community Development (-$227,023) Homeless Prevention and Support Services for the Homeless (-$641,270) Outreach to the homeless (-$1,971,541) Enoch Pratt Free Library (-$350,000) Youth and Trauma Services (-$10,749) Board of Elections (-$190,470) Environmental Inspection Services (-$50,243) Chronic Disease Prevention (-$252,906) Park programs and events (-$122,912) Public right of way cleaning (-$686,806) Events Art Culture and Films (-$442,488) I call on the City Council to cancel the BPD budget increase of $13.5 million and allocate it to the above departments.

Sincerely,
Isaac Bardin

Enoch Pratt Free Library (-$350,000)
Youth and Trauma Services (-$10,749)
Board of Elections (-$190,470)
Environmental Inspection Services (-$50,243)
Chronic Disease Prevention (-$252,906)
Park programs and events (-$122,912)
Public right of way cleaning (-$686,806)
Events Art Culture and Films (-$442,488)

I call on the Baltimore City Council to vote against the proposed FY 2020-21 Baltimore Police Department budget and instead work to implement significant and permanent reductions to this department. These funds should then be reallocated by the Mayor toward the development of harm reduction systems that do not terrorize our neighbors and communities.

Please see the attached document for specific line items in the police budget that should be cut.

Hi Zeke,

I'm writing as a constituent to urge you to vote against the proposed FY 21 budget from Mayor Young. The extreme allotment of funds to policing our communities while barely funding other necessary areas like homeless services, civil rights, and employment development is the exact opposite of what we should be funding. Our community needs better transit, job opportunities, affordable housing, and programs for youth, not more militarization of police and over policing in Black neighborhoods. Please vote to help our community, not put more people in jail.

Thanks,

Sincerely,

Increasing funding of community investment and decreasing policing will improve the lives of all in the city, but especially those in our black and brown communities who are experiencing the most oppression.

Dear Marguerite.murray@baltimorecity.,

I hope you read my statement earlier this week in response to the civil unrest sweeping the nation.

We are sickened and appalled by the inhumanity we have witnessed in the recent deaths of Breonna Taylor, George Floyd and Ahmaud Arbery.

As you already know, the National Urban League are civil rights leaders committed to racial justice so we share the heartbreak and anguish from protestors of the communities where uprisings have turned violent.

And now the callous response from the authorities who shrugged in the face of evil have magnified disparities.

As the impact of these injustices continues to overwhelm the Black community, the system continues to fail us with unequal and insufficient action. That is why we need your urgent support today.

NUL has already proposed recommendations for police reform and accountability. These include the widespread use of body cameras and dashboard cameras, revision of use-of-force policies, officer training and hiring standards, and the immediate appointment of independent prosecutors to investigate police misconduct.

Marguerite.murray@baltimorecity., I'm calling on dedicated supporters like you to help us keep fighting for you and your loved ones. Your gift today will help fight against the devastating impact of racial injustice, ensuring that fellow Black Americans can receive the support they need.

We need to stand together now and not continue to allow our Black communities to suffer.

Hello,

I call on the Baltimore City Council to vote against the proposed FY 2020-21 Baltimore Police Department budget and instead work to implement significant and permanent reductions to this department. These funds should be routed toward the development of harm reduction systems that do not terrorize our neighbors and communities. The proposed BPD FY21 Budget is $549,959,519. This is an increase of $13,583,042 compared to FY20. The Budget also calls for cuts to several departments that better serve the public, including: Affordable Housing (-$3,535,819) Housing and Community Development (-$227,023) Homeless Prevention and Support Services for the Homeless (-$641,270) Outreach to the homeless (-$1,971,541) Enoch Pratt Free Library (-$350,000) Youth and Trauma Services (-$10,749) Board of Elections (-$190,470) Environmental Inspection Services (-$50,243) Chronic Disease Prevention (-$252,906) Park programs and events (-$122,912) Public right of way cleaning (-$686,806) Events Art Culture and Films (-$442,488) I call on the City Council to cancel the BPD budget increase of $13.5 million and allocate it to the above departments.

Hi,

My name is Garrett Brannon,

It has come to my attention that for the proposed budget next year there are plans to increase funding for the BPD. As a resident of this city I don't think this is where our money should be spent.

I'd much rather see that money used to improve and expand social programs to assist the members of this community.

Thank you for your time,
Garrett Brannon

Dear Mayor Young,

My name is Elizabeth. In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021.

Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety.

My Best,

Increasing the police budget is unethical.

It is akin to paying hit men hired by the morally corrupt to implement violent force that will keep a racist and systemically unjust system operating. Police do not protect anyone but those with vested interest in the survival of a completely unjust system of justice. To all other members of the country and community, police are a threat and a danger. To put it simply, the least you could do is spend that money on directly contributing to the greater good of the people. The money should go towards healing the community not towards smacking it in the wounded face.

To the City Council,

My name is Mariel Farhi. I have lived in Maryland for eight years -- first as a student at St. John's College in Annapolis, and here in Baltimore for the past four. I have been a homeowner in the city for two and a half years, in the Charles Village neighborhood. I love this city for the beauty of its people and its architecture, for its robust artistic community and thriving food scene, and for its wonderful parks, among many other reasons.

One thing I do not love about our city is the presence of an aggressive and overtly racist police force that terrorizes the black community and does virtually nothing to meaningfully increase public safety. For this reason, and especially in light of the recent epidemic of police-instigated violence nationwide, I am deeply dismayed to learn that the city plans to increase police funding by $13,583,042 for the next fiscal year.

I, and many others, cannot conceive of what a police budget of over half a billion dollars does for our city besides further embolden a police force that is already under investigation for countless abuses while taking away funding from actual vital services and initiatives such as Youth and Trauma Services, Chronic Disease Prevention, Affordable Housing, Homelessness Prevention and support services for the homeless, Parks, arts funding, and of course our schools.

It should be common sense that if you want to decrease crime and poverty and increase the wellbeing of a community, you invest in those communities. You create more opportunities and support for both our youth and adults. You do not punish the desperate. You nourish so that people can be strong and build strong communities. It is beyond depravity that our schools do not have adequate supplies or even temperature control, but the police can have anything they like.

Enough is enough. It's time to do the right thing and invest in this city -- not the terroristic carceral state. Defund the police.

Sincerely,
Mariel Farhi

Dear Ms. Currin,

I live in Ward 13 and I am writing to submit testimony regarding the proposed 2021 Baltimore City Budget. The proposed 2021 allocations to the Baltimore Police Department and related policing "services" are unacceptable. As I am sure you are aware, the portion of the budget proposed for policing dwarfs nearly every other portion of the budget many times over, including funding for essential services such as healthcare, housing, parks and recreation, and civil rights.

In light of the ongoing struggle against police brutality and the murder of black citizens at the hands of the police, this budget is not only offensive, it is deeply immoral. If Baltimore City is serious about protecting black lives, it must drastically cut—not increase—the proposed funding for policing in the city.

It has become abundantly clear that reform is not enough. As a city and a community, we must finally come to terms with the realities of policing itself. By drastically cutting the police budget and reinvesting the savings directly into our communities, not only will policing become less prevalent, it will have the effect of holding the police department accountable once and for all.

I sincerely hope that the City Council and Mayor's Office will join us in our fight to protect black Baltimoreans from more senseless violence and death at the hands of the police.

Thank you,

Geoff Cooper

Hi,

My name is Sireen Badr and I'm emailing you to submit testimony to the city council about the proposed city budget. I absolutely oppose increasing the police department budget at all, especially at the expense of community programs. Youth services, affordable housing, and homelessness prevention are all preventative forms of crime fighting that uplift communities socially as well as economically. Rather than investing in the police department, which already uses half a billion dollars and 25% of the budget, put this money towards programs that enrich the lives of citizens, rather than terrorizing them.

Thank you,

Dear Baltimore City Council Members,

I urge you all to vote NO on the proposed FY21 budget. The ongoing protests against police brutality make it clear that the people of Baltimore do not support the large percentage of funds going to Baltimore Police. Adding 13 million dollars, making the overall budget over a half billion dollars, is outrageous given the violence and corruption of the BPD. We need to invest in healthcare, we need to invest in education, we need to invest in infrastructure. Adding more money to an already overfunded organization whose main purpose is to make quotas instead of heal and serve is immoral. We are fed up with our money going to private prison systems, we need to put our money into our community and our people.

You have the opportunity to change lives for the better. As the budget stands it takes money away from Youth and Trauma Services, Chronic Disease Prevention, Affordable Housing, Homeless Prevention+Support Services for the Homeless, Outreach to the Homeless, Parks, and Events Art Culture. These programs are far more important to the daily lives of Baltimoreans than spending money on further militarizing the police. We have spent far too long providing excessive funds to the police. It is clear that this strategy does more harm than good.

It is time for change and you all have the power to help. Do what is best for the people you serve.

Thank you for your time.

Dear Ms. Currin,

I am appalled by the proposal to cut funding for essential services in order to pay for increased spending on police. This is consistent with a decades-long pattern, throughout the U.S., at state and federal levels, of redirecting funding from social services to policing. Why is the Baltimore City government participating in the creation and enhancement of a police state? And why at this particular moment? Do the protests of the past week mean nothing? It is high time for the city to begin shifting monies away from law enforcement and toward the kinds of services that will make Baltimore a better, stronger, healthier city: education, adequate housing, affordable health and child care, counseling for substance abuse issues and improved mental health.

As a Baltimore city taxpayer, I am happy to contribute to the improvement of a city I love. More money for policing does not improve any of our lives.

Yours Sincerely,
Laura Mason

Dear Ms. Currin,

As a citizen of Baltimore City, I'd like to express my opinion that the city should not increase the police budget, especially at the expense of essential city services. Good morning,

As a resident of Baltimore City, I hereby submit the following testimony calling on the Baltimore City Council to reject the proposed FY 2020-21 Baltimore Police Department budget and instead work with Major Jack Young to reappropriate significant and permanent funding away from the BPD. These funds should be routed toward the development of harm reduction systems that do not terrorize our neighbors and communities.

The proposed BPD FY21 Budget is $549,959,519. This is an increase of $13,583,042 compared to FY20. The Budget also calls for cuts to several departments that better serve the public, including:

- Affordable Housing (-$3,535,819)
- Housing and Community Development (-$227,023)
- Homeless Prevention and Support Services for the Homeless (-$641,270)
- Outreach to the homeless (-$1,971,541)

- Events Art Culture and Films (-$442,488)

I call on the City Council to reject the BPD budget increase of $13.5 million and work with Major Jack Young to allocate it to the above departments.

Dear Ms. Currin,

I am a resident of Baltimore city, living in the 14th district, and I request inclusion of my testimony regarding the proposed city council budget.

I strongly oppose the proposed increase in the budget for Policing and insist that the City Council in fact make substantial cuts to funding the BPD. I request that the Council look into disbanding the BPD altogether.

As a doctoral student conducting ethnographic research on the effects of policing on communities, I base this opposition on my own findings as well as the consensus of researchers across the fields of Public Health and the Social Sciences. The research shows: more policing and more funds towards policing do NOT make communities safer. Funding the police is antithetical to "public safety."

“• The new Administrative Duties Division, which contains 240 positions, centralizes both the budget and management of all sworn personnel who are on medical and limited duty.”

Why do we need 240 positions for management of officers on medical and limited duty, how many of these are administrative vs. the actual officers? Why is there 10 million in here that is unallocated? Cut those down to 20 and 0 respectively, resulting in a 25 million dollar cut.

25 + 10 = 35 million TOTAL cut for the Administrative Bureau

Hello Mr. Costello and Ms. Currin,

My name is Nick McKernan, a resident of District 11 in Baltimore City. I'm writing to urge the Baltimore City Council to reconsider their allocation of an estimated $509 million dollars to the Baltimore Police Department for the FY21 budget. Instead, I urge dispersing a significant portion of these sums to other areas of Baltimore's infrastructure, notably Housing & Community Development, Health Services, Employment Development, Homeless Services, and Civil Rights efforts in the city.

As a student of the Maryland Institute College of Art, I came to Baltimore with the intention of studying animation and learning from the community around me. I did not expect to fall in love with this city in the way I have. Its people inspire me to be better, and its communities desperately need the support of the Baltimore City Council now more than ever. With a reallocation of funds, this money can and should be used to foster the many incredible communities of color that our city is known for.

I implore you not to increase the budget of the Baltimore Police Department, and instead stand in solidarity with the thousands of workers, community members, and citizens who have fought through Covid-19 and have not hesitated in donning facemasks and marching the streets in the ongoing fight against racism. Justice must be served not simply in the law, but through the distribution of funds. I believe wholly in my heart that the Baltimore City Council can reflect the values of our city-- and of the Black Lives Matter movement-- in the FY21 budgetary plan.

Thank you for your attention and your consideration. I hope you are staying safe.

Best,

Nicholas M. McKernan

Good Afternoon,

As a person born, raised and who has chosen to invest in the city of Baltimore, I must ask that you not increase the budget for the Baltimore City Police Department. We all have seen what the police have been capable of in this city and to be honest, they do not make me feel safe nor do they represent this fine city. We know that they have stolen pharmaceuticals and sold them to gangs, killed citizens of this city in cold blood or on "rough rides" and most recently and quite publicly, punched a mentally unstable woman in the face. The list, I'm sure you're aware, goes on.

This is also an unprecedented time, as we are in the midst of a deadly pandemic that is unflinchingly targeting poor black and brown people, those "essential workers" who often neither make a living wage or have access to adequate health care. I ask that the city council take the proposed increase and put it towards the people who need it most. People who need access to food, access to health care (both physical and mental). I ask that you consider employing non police first responders who are therapists, trained in de escalation.

I'm certain that there are community members and organizations who are much more aware of the intricate needs of Baltimoreans and I ask that you defer to them. But please, do not increase the police budget at this moment. I would urge you to defund the police as well. The money is needed elsewhere.

Sincerely,
Nicole Davis
Resident of Baltimore City

Hello,

I call on the Baltimore City Council to vote against the proposed FY 2020-21 Baltimore Police Department budget and instead work to implement significant and permanent reductions to this department. These funds should be routed toward the development of harm reduction systems that do not terrorize our neighbors and communities. The proposed BPD FY21 Budget is $549,959,519. This is an increase of $13,583,042 compared to FY20. The Budget also calls for cuts to several departments that better serve the public, including:
Affordable Housing (-$3,535,819)
Housing and Community Development (-$227,023) Homeless Prevention and Support Services for the Homeless (-$641,270) Outreach to the homeless (-$1,971,541) Enoch Pratt Free Library (-$350,000) Youth and Trauma Services (-$10,749) Board of Elections (-$190,470) Environmental Inspection Services (-$50,243) Chronic Disease Prevention (-$252,906) Park programs and events (-$122,912) Public right of way cleaning (-$686,806) Events Art Culture and Films (-$442,488) I call on the City Council to cancel the BPD budget increase of $13.5 million and allocate it to the above departments.

Sincerely,
Marissa Potter

Dear Marguerite Currin,

My name is Nikki Lee and I am a Baltimore resident. In the midst of this pandemic & public outcry against police brutality, it feels more inappropriate than ever to propose increases to the BPD budget from $530 Million to $545 million. I urge you to ethically reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divesting interest in the BPD, and investing in social services and education programs, effective at the beginning of FY 2021. Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health, shows our commitment to communities and the vision that all Baltimore residents deserve to thrive.

Historically, the city government has spent far more on police than on public health, homeless services, youth services, and other vital agencies.

It's time to defund the BPD's harmful expansion into homeless services, schools, youth services, mental health, and other social services where police don't belong. It's time to protect investments in human services, the social safety net, and racial and economic justice.

I am writing to insist that the upcoming BBMR budget hearings for FY 2021 reflect the voices and needs of Baltimore's citizens. I am asking that city officials lobby intense care, attention and effort towards finding sustainable, longterm change.

Thank you,
Nikki Lee

Dear Mayor Young,

I'm Matthew Brunstad, a NYC resident who roomed with a Baltimore resident in college. In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021.

Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety.

Heard about the Python Meet Up for Process Improvement?

THIS MEETUP IS FOR YOU

if you work with automated administrative processes, datasets and need a better way to visualize the data.

...OR

if you're just generally interested in what Python and how it can be used to make your work easier.

TOPICS OF DISCUSSION

LIBERATING 3RD PARTY DATA TO MAKE THE CITY BETTER

The city of Baltimore works with many third-party companies that collect and store our data for us, but aren't always responsive to our data analytic needs, or data requests. This will show you how you can liberate that data with an account, some knowledge of cook and python.

Presenter- Brian Seel is a recent transplant into city government after 10 years working as a software developer for the National Security Agency. In his role as a data analyst for DOT, he looks for new data sources, ways to analyze that data, and creates dashboards to present it, largely using Python to do those things. When he is not doing those things (and not at home because of the lockdown), he can probably be found on his bike, or on the bus.

Dear Ms. Currin ,

My name is Nina Breece. I am a resident of District 11, and I am emailing today to demand a cut of budgeted General Funds to the Baltimore City Police Department (BPD) for the Fiscal Year ending June 30, 2021.

The recent murders of George Floyd and Breonna Taylor are only the televised instances of police brutality and gross abuse of power against the Black community. These tragic events come 5 years after the murder of Freddie Gray at the hands of the BPD. As a result, I think it is clear that bloated police funding is a crux for discrimination at the hands of those who claim to protect and serve.

Living in a city where the majority (62.8% to be exact) of residents are Black, I do not support a Baltimore where revenue from residents' property and income taxes are funneled disproportionately to the BPD. Furthermore, I do not support a Baltimore where the BPD is allocated 182x the funding of our Civil Rights initiatives. On what would be the 27th birthday of Breonna Taylor, I am emailing to demand a cut of funding to the BPD.

I demand a cut of this short-sighted allocation of funds to the BPD for the fiscal year ending in June 2021. In addition, I demand that the 6/12 hearing on BPD budget be extended so more Baltimore City residents can weigh in on this crucial decision.

Thank you,
Nina Breece

Dear:

Council President Brandon M. Scott
Councilwoman Mary Pat Clarke
Mayor Bernard C. Young,
as well as all other City Council members:

My name is Eleni Giorgos. I am a Hampden resident in the 14th councilmanic district. I am asking that the entire Baltimore City Council to vote against the proposed FY 2020-21 Baltimore Police Department budget and instead work to implement significant and permanent reductions to this department. We have seen no demonstrable change in violence despite the continual increase of BPD's budget and we need to address the systemic reasons for violence in order to have any hope of change.

The proposed BPD FY21 Budget is $549,959,519. This is an increase of $13,583,042 compared to FY20. The Budget also calls for cuts to several departments that better serve the public, including:

- Affordable Housing (-$3,535,819)
- Housing and Community Development (-$227,023)
- Homeless Prevention and Support Services for the Homeless (-$641,270)
- Outreach to the homeless (-$1,971,541)
- Enoch Pratt Free Library (-$350,000)
- Youth and Trauma Services (-$10,749)
- Board of Elections (-$190,470)
- Environmental Inspection Services (-$50,243)
- Chronic Disease Prevention (-$252,906)
- Park programs and events (-$122,912)
- Public right of way cleaning (-$686,806)
- Events Art Culture and Films (-$442,488)

I call on the City Council to cancel the BPD budget increase of $13.5 million and allocate it to the above departments. If we need different results than what we have been getting from BPD (police brutality and terror of black communities, to name two), that means we have to try a new approach. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Eleni Giorgos

Dear Council President Brandon M. Scott & Councilwoman Mary Pat Clarke & Mayor Bernard C. Young,

I call on the Baltimore City Council to vote against the proposed FY 2020-21 Baltimore Police Department budget and instead work to implement significant and permanent reductions to this department.

These funds should be routed toward the development of harm reduction systems that endeavor to enable and uplift rather than oppress our neighbors and communities.

I call on the City Council to cancel the BPD budget increase of $13.5 million and allocate it to the above departments. Our city is suffering and we require programs that better serve the community through outreach, education, compassion, and assistance. Defunding such programs and increasing funding on an institution that is objectively not functioning as intended is a misuse of funds and a betrayal to the tax-base that overwhelming does not support it's methods. Throwing more money at a broken system will not fix the system. Transform the system rather than enable it.

You are our elected officials and represent our voices when we are not there to be heard. Hear us now. Please.

Sincerely,

Hi Zeke,

I'm writing as a constituent to urge you to vote against the proposed FY 21 budget from Mayor Young. The extreme allotment of funds to policing our communities while barely funding other necessary areas like homeless services, civil rights, and employment development is the exact opposite of what we should be funding. Our community needs better transit, job opportunities, affordable housing, and programs for youth, not more militarization of police and over policing in Black neighborhoods. Please vote to help our community, not put more people in jail.

Thanks,

Grace Hochheimer

To all concerned,

I am deeply concerned about the current proposed budget which continues to prioritize spending on police over services that uplift and support communities. Even amidst other agencies having to slash budgets due to economic fallout caused by COVID, there is a proposed budget increase to BPD. This is unacceptable. We can no longer continue to support an organization that has continually brutalized communities in this city and even, in the midst of a Consent Decree and falling public trust, decides to operate a surveillance place. I am sick and tired of paying for fraudulent overtime and lawsuits for excessive force. No longer should the budget of the BPD consume over half of the city's funds while we cannot provide adequate housing and public transportation, community centers and even heating and cooling in our schools, The police must be defunded.

As we repair the historical scars of redlining and segregation and invest in communities all around Baltimore, not just in the predominantly white communities, we will find "crime" decrease (white collar crime is rampant in predominantly white communities though most charged with crimes are poor and people of color). We need to invest in organizations like CeaseFire, which has reduced crime by up to 50% on CeaseFire Weekends and invest in social workers in schools to name just two of many strategies that have proven to have positive effects in keeping our communities safe and reducing crime. Now is the time to redirect funds to support and uplift communities around Baltimore and that starts with defunding the police.

Thank you for your time,
Kyle Long

I understand this is outside of your control, but as a District 12 resident, I want you to know that these are the priorities I think our city should make. To Whom it May Concern,

My name is Lexie Mountain, and I am a homeowner, taxpayer, and member of the historic Waverly neighborhood in Baltimore City. I am appalled that my taxes have been funding tear gas (a deadly abortifacient), severance packages for killer cops, and the defense attorneys who keep these abusive gangsters on the street. Black Lives Matter, and it is time to show the world that you actually believe that to be true.

In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. I urge you to support and enable reallocating the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021. I urge our state government in Annapolis and Washington, D.C. to protect the citizens of Baltimore from aggressive policing, militarized action, and the unregulated abuses of the BPD.

Unallocated funds need to support programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health and will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety. Demilitarization of the BPD is crucial at this time to protect our citizens from police aggression. I am also asking the Governor's office and my state reps to stop funding police litigation with taxpayer money. Officers flagged with credibility issues, domestic abuse backgrounds, and misconduct violations need to be dismissed without severance.

I call on the Baltimore City Council to vote against the proposed FY 2020-21 Baltimore Police Department budget and instead work to implement significant and permanent reductions to this department. These funds should be routed toward the development of harm reduction systems that do not terrorize our neighbors and communities.

The proposed BPD FY21 Budget is $549,959,519. This is an increase of $13,583,042 compared to FY20. The Budget also calls for cuts to several departments that better serve the public, including:
Affordable Housing (-$3,535,819)

Housing and Community Development (-$227,023)
Homeless Prevention and Support Services for the Homeless (-$641,270)
Outreach to the homeless (-$1,971,541)

Events Art Culture and Films (-$442,488)

I call on the City Council to cancel the BPD budget increase of $13.5 million and allocate it to the above departments. I call on our legislature to support these efforts at the state and federal level.

Hi

I am an 8 year resident of Charles Village, living at 2923 St. Paul Street. When police patrol our calm, safe streets they are unfriendly and often rude. This is the polar opposite of Hopkins security who are 99% black and 99% friendly and courteous. And they live in the city. Please limit and lower police funding and hire private security who are from and part of the Baltimore family.
