A COUNCIL RESOLUTION CONCERNING

Recognizing January as Human Trafficking Awareness Month

FOR the purpose of recognizing January as Human Trafficking Awareness Month and recognizing the tireless and ongoing efforts of the Baltimore City Human Trafficking Collaborative in educating the citizens of Baltimore to assist in the prevention of human trafficking and supporting victims of human sex and labor trafficking.

Recitals

President Barack Obama first proclaimed January as “National Slavery and Human Trafficking Prevention” month in 2010. Since then, state and local governments across the country have declared January as a month to promote awareness of human trafficking in the hopes that, through increased awareness, this societal ill can be eradicated.

To be sure, human trafficking is a form of modern slavery that occurs in every state, including Maryland. The Maryland Human Trafficking Task Force is the State's primary organization that works to prevent trafficking, protect victims by providing them with the services they need, prosecute traffickers, and partner with a variety of organizations to eradicate the scourge of human trafficking from our communities.

Furthermore, human trafficking is the exploitation of an individual for financial gain through forced labor or commercial sex. Between 14,500 and 17,500 individuals are trafficked into the United States each year. Nationally, an estimated 4,457 to 20,995 youths ages 13-17 are involved in the U.S. sex industry. In Maryland, there were over 440 cases of child sex trafficking reported to local Departments of Social Services between July 2013 and July 2018. These reports involved over 375 alleged minor victims, the majority of whom were Maryland residents between the ages of 14-17 years old.

Youth who identify as LGBTQ may be additionally vulnerable to trafficking due to lack of social supports, familial rejection, or both. According to the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children, 74% of the children trafficked came from the foster care or the social services system when they ran away and were lured into sex trafficking.

The Baltimore City Human Trafficking Collaborative has become a leader in the State of Maryland with its proactive anti-trafficking efforts. Last year, the Collaborative provided $300,000 in grant funds to assist human trafficking services programs to better serve trafficking survivors. In 2020, there will be an additional $300,000 in grant funds allocated. The Collaborative is working hard and finding great success in arrests and assistance, and there is no better time than now to recognize their efforts.
