AN ORDINANCE CONCERNING

1 Baltimore City Workgroup on Women in Public Safety

2 FOR the purpose of establishing the Baltimore City Workgroup on Women in Public Safety;
3 providing for the composition and staffing of the Workgroup; requiring the Workgroup to 4 study certain matters related to the recruitment, hiring, training, retention, mentorship, and 5 promotions of women in Baltimore City public safety agencies; requiring the Workgroup to 6 report its findings and recommendations to the Mayor and City Council on or before a certain 7 date; providing for a special effective date; providing for the termination of this Ordinance;
8 and generally relating to the advancement of women in public safety professions.

9 Recitals

10 Female representation in the nation’s approximately 18,000 law enforcement agencies has 11 remained static at around 12% for over 25 years. Evaluating the promotional process, that 12% is 12 even smaller as women make up just 3% of police executive leadership positions. This trend
13 follows suit in other emergency agencies. Statistics from the organization Women in Fire show 14 that women in fire and emergency medical service organizations make up just 3.7% of their 15 industry’s workforce in the United States, with women of color accounting for only 1 in 5 16 women within the profession.

17 Unfortunately, the Baltimore Police Department’s and the Baltimore City Fire Department’s
18 statistics are on par with national averages. It has been reported that of the Police Department’s 19 nearly 2,500 sworn officers, less than 400, or 16%, are women. The Fire Department has 20 approximately 1,700 uniformed personnel and less than 250, or 14%, are women.

21 The low numbers of women within these professions are a problem that stems from 22 disproportionate barriers in recruitment, retention, mentorship, and the promotion of experienced 23 women. Historically, both agencies have dealt with issues of equity in their promotional 24 practices, more specifically as it relates to women. In the Baltimore Police Department, it was not 25 until 1978 when the first woman was promoted through the ranks and held the command-level
26 position of Major. More recently, in 2020, the Baltimore City Fire Department promoted the first 27 woman to rise through the ranks to the command-level position of Deputy Chief.

Council Bill 21-0104

1 Baltimore City has never had a woman lead its Fire or Police Departments. The City
2 currently lags behind its neighbors in Anne Arundel County, Baltimore County, Howard County,
3 and Prince George's County, all of whom have or have had a woman serve as their jurisdictions
4 Fire Chief or Police Chief. Public-safety professionals serving in the community are often the 5 most visible manifestation of government to the public. Because of this, it is critical that the 6 selection process that we use to recruit, hire and promote employees in public safety agencies
7 represents the diversity of our communities.

8 Accordingly, the Mayor and City Council find cause to study these issues in order to develop 9 a comprehensive strategy on how to increase and retain female representation in our public safety 10 agencies.

11 SECTION 1. BE IT ORDAINED BY THE MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL OF BALTIMORE, That:

10 on female participation, testing outcomes, and selection; and

11 (iv) pre-employment screening process over the previous 7 years with a 12 special focus on physical agility test requirements and female pass/fail 13 rates;

14 (2) in order to fully and effectively address the issue of recruiting, hiring, 15 retaining, and promoting women in public safety; analyze:

16 (i) the barriers that women face in the pre-employment screening process
17 and at the training academy;

20 (iv) how City public safety agencies are working to ensure that women 21 have the appropriate equipment that they need and that the City is 22 providing women with equal facilities that their male counterparts 23 have;

24 (3) examine the legality and feasibility of creating a local "Women in Public 25 Safety Mentorship Program" aimed at creating a social network that will help 26 recruit more women into public safety careers; retaining more women in the 27 profession; and encouraging women to take part in the promotional process;

28 (4) develop strategies to ensure that the Police Department is able to successfully
29 accomplish their "30x30" Pledge to reach the 30% mark for women in law 30 enforcement recruitment classes by 2030; and

31 (5) develop and recommend a draft internal policy for use by City public agencies 32 that will require that 25% of the candidates being interviewed for 33 command-level positions be women who are internal or external of the

Council Bill 21-0104

9 the abrogation of this Ordinance, the Workgroup shall continue to meet at least every 10 3 months to assess and review the implementation of the recommendations set forth 11 in the report.

12 SECTION 2. AND BE IT FURTHER ORDAINED, That this Ordinance takes effect on the date it is 13 enacted. It shall remain effective until November 30, 2024; and, immediately after that date with 14 no further action by the Mayor and City Council, this Ordinance will be abrogated and of no 15 further effect.
