Analysis

Background

Bill 21-0081R invites agency representatives to explain how the CODEMAP application assists with public and private decision making and strategic planning in the City. CODEMAP captures, analyzes, manages and display a variety of geographical data.

CodeMap consists of multiple layers of information. The GIS mapping and data tool has information about, housing, property ownership, land use activity, permitting, code enforcement, vacant building notices, development zones, and many other city-related data sets. The mapping tool is available for use by government employees and the general public.
