Dear Mayor Young,

My name is Anaïs Naharro-Murphy. In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021. Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety.

I am a product of the public schools but I was coming from a place of white high-socio-economic privilege, so my parents were able to use that to navigate the public school system for me to go to the best schools. Because we believe that good public education is a human right. Just like living is a human right. But that's not the reality for most black folx in Baltimore as we all know- which is why black lives matter is calling for defunding the police and investing in the community. This is a crisis- and where there is crisis- there is a disease- and a symptom of that disease is crime. However, better social services and education can lead to a calmer, happier society. Education should be available for EVERYBODY with funding allocated where it belongs. The arts have also saved my life so I know it can save lives but instead we keep cutting programs, or relying on outside organizations who do not understand our schools/families/students, having cops in our schools instead of counselors to deal with the difficult family backgrounds that many children have to "turn off" or disassociate from when coming to school. Why are we investing in militarized police if our citywide literacy levels are so low? Why are we choosing profits over people? Our impact could be in the schools, in after school programs, in public health, in mental health, in clean streets, in open green spaces, in housing the unhoused, it's in you and me. It's in true community aimed to benefit ALL society. I urge you to do the best for the city- this is what Baltimore really needs to become as our slogan says "THE BEST CITY IN AMERICA". Let's show the world we can be that!

Best,

Mary Pat Clarke's neighbor on Cloverhill Rd

Anaïs Naharro-Murphy

Dear Mayor Young, My name is Navera Ahmed. In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021. Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety.

Best,
Navera Ahmed

Dear Council members and Mayor Young,

My name is Melissa Howison. As a proud resident of Baltimore, I urge you to decrease the proposed funds to the Baltimore Police Department and re-allocate them to support the true live-saving services our city needs in FY21: housing and community development, employment development, homeless services, recreation and parks, art and culture, health, and civil rights.

Divesting from The Baltimore Police Department is the only way to end police brutality and the only ethical way forward for our city. We, the people of Baltimore, deserve better. I ask you to please live up to your sworn duty to serve us by cutting BPD funding.

I would also like to take this time to vocalize my support for Charter Amendments CB-19-0379 to authorize the City Council to re-allocate funds in the budget process.

Thank you,

Melissa

Dear Mayor Young,

My name is Rachelle Ciulla. In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021.

Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety.

Best,
Rachelle Ciulla

Dear Mayor Young,

My name is Crishia Joyce Martinez and I am a resident of Parkville, MD, very close to the Baltimore City line. In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is completely inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021.

Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety.

Dear Mayor Young,

My name is Abigail Kantt. I am a resident of Baltimore County, but I have friends and family who live in Baltimore City, so I have spent much of my life in Baltimore City. It is one of my favorite places on Earth and very dear to my heart. Even though I am not your constituent, I wanted to email you in order to demonstrate to you that people all over Maryland support the protests in Baltimore right now and do NOT support the proposed increases to the BPD budget.

In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. Dear Mayor Young,

My name is Naomi Adams. In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021.

Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety.

Best,

Naomi Adams

Dear Mayor Young,

My name is Emma Kantt. I am a resident of District 11. In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, your proposed increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget are wildly inappropriate. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021.

Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health will have a much more measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety than investment in the BPD.

Best,
Emma Kantt
