Dear Mayor Young,

My name is Tiniya Dixon. In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021.

Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety.

Best,

Tiniya

Dear Mayor Young,

My name is Kilynne Higgins and I am a resident of Baltimore City. In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. Making cuts to the absurdly large budget for police patrols in already marginalized and criminalized communities is crucial, as police have been shown time and time again to exacerbate the violence they are meant to be preventing. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021. Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety. Best,

Kilynne Higgins

Dear Mayor Young,

My name is Anael Hester. I am a resident of Baltimore, and in the midst of this pandemic and this historic public outcry against police brutality, and remembering the several times in the past in which officers of the Baltimore Police Department have been caught planting drugs on innocent people's property, I'm sure many agree it to be inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department's budget. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021.

Dear Mayor Young,

My name is Temi Olasimbo. In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021.

Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety.

Best,

Hello Ms. Currin,

My name is Sally Plunkett, I'm a resident of Baltimore City's 11th District writing to you in an effort to relay my message to city council and the powers that be. I am a Latina resident, and as such I feel it in my experience in this brown skin to ask for police reform and defunding as a strategy to reconstruct and rebuild a culture and society that has targeted black residents and residents "of color" unjustly. I believe Baltimore can be the home to innovation against the mistreatment and prejudice of it's underrepresented residents. The police abuse their power both civilly and physically by way of fire arms, brute force, and the broken laws backing their subjective judgments. I demand that the budget reflect where resources truly need to be directed. Priority should be made in social work, affordable housing, school infrastructure and programs, mental health support, food deserts, etc.

Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,
Sally Plunkett

Sally Plunkett, Assoc. AIA

Dear Mayor Young,

My name is Cara Denton. In the midst of a pandemic and mass public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. I strongly urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021.

Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety.

However, I would also like to take this time to extend my gratitude to the city for allowing protests to take place without police intervention. I attended a few and saw how the officers were not there to monitor and regulate the protest, but to ensure it could happen safely. It is incredibly important that the people have the opportunity to hold peaceful protests without unnecessary violence or intervention.

Our country is changing rapidly, and I believe it will bring new policy and reform that may seem uncomfortable and rushed to some. However, it is certainly time our systems had a spring cleaning.

Best,
Cara Denton

To Whom It May Concern:

My name is David and I'm a resident of Baltimore City. If the local and national protests over the last two weeks have demonstrated anything to public officials, it is that police terrorize and brutalize the communities they are supposedly entrusted to protect and serve.

The spectacular failure of the Gun Trace Task Force, which gave BPD the power to run roughshod over the city at the expense of the life and liberty of innocent citizens, and the 2015 murder of Freddie Grey by BPD are just a couple of the most notable examples of gross abuse of power exercised by the Baltimore Police Department. They are by no means isolated incidents and speak to the culture of violence, racism, and corruption that exists within BPD.

Enabling this police presence not only actively endangers the community, but diverts funds from programs that impact the city in a positive and meaningful way.

For these reasons, I believe it is unconscionable and runs directly counter to the interests of the citizens of this city to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. I am urging you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, DEFUND the BPD, and instead invest those funds in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021.

Investing these funds in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, and the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety.

The people of this city deserve to be invested in. This city deserves to be invested in. Do the right thing. We're begging you.

Dear Mayor Young,

My name is Jordan White. In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021.

Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety.

Best,
Jordan White

Hello, my name is William Van Der Laar and I live in Locust Point. I would like my following testimony to be taken into consideration for decisions made about the budget:

I call on the city council to work with the Mayor to defund the BPD. I know the city council does not have the direct ability to reallocate funds in the budget (and so I also ask them to work towards changing the strong mayor system in Baltimore so that the city council has more power over things like the budget) but I ask the council to use what power it has to tell the mayor that this gross misallocation of funds is unacceptable. Not only does BPD fail to get results, but they have shown over and over to be an entirely corrupt and abusive institution that is unworthy of the power that they have. We must begin removing this power until they wield it correctly and instead use that money to help the communities that are bearing the brunt of all of the injustice. America has been trying to "reform" the police for decades and it is clearly not working. Take their money and their power when they refuse to change. We are in unprecedented times and the events of the past week show that The People are fed up. We all have a chance to be part of history here and make real change happen. People much smarter than me have great ideas about how BPD's wasted money can be used to fix the root causes of inequality and crime. I ask you to listen to these ideas and implement them. I want my tax dollars to be used for helping people succeed and rise out of poverty, not for punishing them with an unjust occupational force that fails at keeping people safe. The difference in funding spent on helping people thrive vs punishing the desperate is truly egregious. I am asking you to take steps to shorten that gap as much as possible.

Thank you,
William Van Der Laar

Dear Council Members,

My name is Isaac Morales. In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021.

Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety.

Best,

Isaac Morales

Dear Mayor Young,

My name is Erica Jane Makar. I am a medical student at university of Maryland school of medicine, but I have lived in Remington Baltimore for many years. As a committed health professional, I have a personal interest in dismantling the racist systems that put black and brown folks at risk of violence, food insecurity, poverty, homelessness, substance abuse, chronic diseases and pain among many other disparities. Funding the police force does nothing to address any of these systems. Rather, it instills an additional fear of the loss of life in our community. I have worked with Safe Streets Baltimore. They and the violence interrupter counselors in the hospital need to be fully funded and provided with adequate support for crisis/emergency response. Do you know how much more effective this would be than the current reactionary and corrupt police?

In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021.

Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety.

You will be remembered by what side of history you were on. I think you still have it in you to love Baltimore.

Erica Makar (she/they)

Dear Mayor Young,

My name is Sam Wilson. In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021.

Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety. My studies as a Political Science major at St. Mary's College of MD have convinced me that programs aimed at providing social capital are the best policy option. Maintaining law and order is critical, but investment in such programs will longitudinally reduce necessary police expenditures.

Providing social capital to the most underprivileged communities is but a single step in breaking cycles of poverty and racism, but it needs to be done. Baltimore is a city ravaged by the War on Drugs and the loss of the steel mill at Sparrows Point. Tens of thousands of people retain industrial labor skillsets that do not correspond to the service and medical economy of Baltimore today. These people are crying for our help and have been left in the dust for decades. Please consider policies aimed at providing more social capital to the people of Baltimore. It is my city and I love it to the core despite its struggles. I cannot bear to see my city and others like it continue to feed into the cycle of systemic oppression.

Best,
Sam Wilson

My name is Mickey Lusk. In the midst of a pandemic and public outcry against police brutality, it is inappropriate to propose increases to the Baltimore Police Department budget. I urge you to reallocate the Baltimore City Expense Budget, divest interest in the BPD, and invest in social services and education programs, effective for FY 2021.

Investment in programs such as the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, Safe Streets Baltimore, the Office of Employment and Development, or the Department of Health will have a measurable and lasting impact on public health and safety.

Best,
Mickey Lusk
