City Council Ways and Means Committee Questions on Safe Streets

- The Committee asked a question about the number of mediations attempted by Safe Streets that still resulted in violence. No, there is no information to substantiate that a shooting or homicide resulted after Safe Streets staff conducted a mediation. For awareness, once Safe Streets staff become involved in a mediation, they do not step away from it until there is a resolution. The initial contact would be "an attempt mediation"; Safe Streets staff then continue to work with those involved. Mediations are not counted until a conflict is deemed peaceful.

As mentioned at last evening's budget hearing, in 2021, Safe Streets staff alone conducted 2,132 mediations. As of yesterday, Safe Streets staff have conducted 983 mediations so far in 2022 across 10 sites.

- A breakdown of the status and amount of payments outstanding to Safe Streets sites is included in the table below. All invoices received by MONSE have been submitted to the Bureau of Accounting and Payroll (BAP) at the Department of Finance. Amounts overdue for payment (invoices submitted by MONSE more than 30 days ago to BAP for payment) are listed in red.
