12 Adam D. Cockey, Jr., was a person who made a difference. Active in 13 philanthropy, he served as a past board and executive committee member of the 14 League for the Disabled and was a past president of the Cystic Fibrosis 15 Foundation. To quote his business partner, Carol J. Schmidt, “Adam had a sense 16 of humor. He was kind and genuine. He cared about people and causes and was 17 respected statewide and nationally.”

18 As the owner of Wyndhurst Station, he was an important steward of a key 19 commercial property that is located adjacent to the Stony Run Park in the Greater 20 Roland Park area of Baltimore City. He maintained the historic appearance of the 21 14,000 square foot property, which was originally built as a station house for the 22 Maryland and Pennsylvania Railroad.

23 When he acquired the property, he provided a public easement for the Stony 24 Run Park and Walking Path. In 2011, he agreed to donate the land to the City to 25 be made a permanent part of the Stony Run Park, but sadly passed away before 26 the land could be transferred. His wife and son agreed to donate the property in 27 his honor.
